

The morse code requirement should be dropped, however, I believe an amateur operator should only receive voice privileges after successfully completing the exam for general. Technicians or tech pluses should get a small part of the HF bands in the CW portion of the bands as they do now. The exam for General should contain elements that stress proper operating to help transition techs to HF.